- A factory located in Kalisz (P52/N94) on Czestochowska Street, near the road to Piwonice, is being expanded. It is a factory built by the Germans during the war and formerly named Zelinwerk. On 1 June 1951, the factory was taken over by the Army. The machinery is partly automatic and partly semi-automatic. Part of it has been transferred to Psie Pole. The factory is allegedly engaged in aircraft parts production. The machinery is of German, Czech and Soviet origin. The factory premises cover four square kilometers.
- A heavy industrial plant is under construction in Konin. Service to Poland brigades are being employed in the construction work.
